Suggested Resolutions For Americans In 1958

Tell the people the truth.

Stop acting scared and panicky.

Discontinue competition in scientific and defense efforts and concentrate on keeping ourselves fully informed and militarily strong.

Continue our research in a dignified way and not publicly push our experiments ahead of our time schedule so that we obviously are making scientific attempts for which we are not ready.

Use politics only to force officials to do a better job. This will stem from telling the public the facts.

Determine our needs in all fields before we talk of budget. Then total up the bill. To save our lives we can pay it. It is not what we can afford. It is what we must have to stay alive. We haven't started to really try . . . or pay.

Close up the tax loopholes and let all of us share that cost of freedom.

Maintain our way of life, without too many frills and too much lushness. Otherwise we will have no more to offer than communism.

Get rid of public officials on all levels, local, state, and national, whose thinking is so outmoded that progressive steps in education, government, and international relations are constantly frustrated.

Continually remind ourselves that the kind of war in which you can lose the first round and still make a come-back has been fought for the last time. There may be only one round the next time.

The next Pearl Harbor will be Washington, New York, Chicago, and all key points of production and defense.

We are in danger as never before, but we are far from licked if we face our danger, examine the facts, and roll up our intellectual sleeves. As individuals in a nation which may be fighting to stay alive, we should draw aside the curtains of prejudice and realize that each one of us is a part of this and that no one can be expected to do it for us. All of us have a part . . . at least to be informed, to vote, to pay our share.

We doubt if any great nation has come to the end of its power because it practiced Christian policies. We suspect that all have fallen because of the opposite reason. They have become soft through lush living, have lost friends because of greed and misuse of others, have become weak at the core because of a few who benefitted so greatly that they controlled the policies and economics in their favor.

Are we measuring up to avoid these pitfalls?

If we are not, then we have another resolution which is quite obvious. Let us take our religion outside the church and utilize it as individuals and as a nation. No other policy ever has paid off.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

THIS IS A BIG ONE

The next twelve months, and certainly the next two or three dozen, may determine the future of our way of life, and the decisions we make in 1958 and the speed and efficiency with which we carry them out can save or destroy the freedom for which we have struggled.

It is not a completely new trail. It is strewn with guideposts and trampled with footprints that should tell us the way. Our weakness may be that either we cannot read them, or we will refuse to utilize them.

These signs, of course, are to be found in history, a subject which most of us mechanically memorized so as to pass examinations, but failed to accept as a fascinating story of the past which offers so many answers to our future. There is no need to make again the many mistakes to be found within those pages.

We find empire after empire coming to its finish. We can read entire books, and series of books, which will explain why some great power finally fell.

Teus the most obvious result of all these great conquests and overpowering tactics by so many leading nations is that the majority of the people of this world still are hungry, still are underprivileged, still are ruled and controlled by a few. Despite the spread of culture and the development of new areas by the growth of many empires, the mass of people are lacking in true freedom and in a fair share of the natural riches which are all around them.

The British, the Dutch, and the French are the latest to pull in their colonial horns and to shrink their sphere of influence. And in the very countries from which they withdraw, the United States finds it necessary to spend money to feed, clothe, educate, and heal the masses.

* SELFISHNESS UNPROFITABLE

The selfish policies which have left the majority of these people unimproved while chosen leaders have prospered is apt to lose the so-called democratic nations their democracy. Communism, as hypocritical as it obviously is to us, makes a strong bid to these underprivileged ones. It offers them something they never have enjoyed. Naturally they grasp it.

At the same time their leaders go for it because they are promised choice official positions under the new regime. Communism plays both ends against the middle, and in the middle are those of us who have prospered at the expense of the millions.

* PROPOSED POLICY

It is obvious to us that if America and its allies are to keep democracy alive a change of policy is in order. Though the United States has not practiced colonialism in the pattern of many others, it has taken much and given little. It, too, has done little more than back private investments, paying royalties to royalty and doing nothing for the vast majority of the subjects.

We have drained out raw materials, paid fancy prices to the leaders, making them wealthier than ever, and more powerful than before, but have not brought up the standard of living. We haven't even made the raw material available or of any value to the people in the countries where we have gained our profits.

We suggest, then, a new policy, based on the heart of the Christian religion, and on much that may be found in other faiths. Basically, do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

This has not been tried as a fundamental policy by any major power. If our international relations were so shaped, we would be doing all we could to help India, China, Africa, and others, to feed themselves, improve their physical condition, educate their people, and provide them with the ability and tools with which to develop a standard of living that would compare with ours. We would be backing the people and not their grasping leaders. We would show as a nation which grew from a revolutionary action a sympathy for those who revolt against tyranny. We would be far ahead of the Communist rabble-rousers because we would have so much more to give.

We would shed ourselves of such strange bedfellows as Franco who is oppressing freedom in Spain while we fail to recognize Communist China, and while we talk disparagingly of other Russian satellites. Better to go down fighting for the elimination of oppression than eventually lose our freedom by condoning dictators, princes, and satraps.

The empires before us have been driven out or brought down by policies that stopped at nothing to subjugate; by policies based on what they could get from the many by paying the few. We have shown signs of following the same path.

And that path today is leading us headon into an ideological conflict with Communism in key nations. As India goes so may go the world. Because the many neighboring nations no doubt will follow. If Africa then falls in line, we will become an isolated island of freedom, and with very little of that. World trade will be gone, raw materials will be too short, we will be a target for the entire world, and retaliation will be impossible without complete destruction.

* THE ANSWER

The answer is the policy that never has been truly tried on a major scale. It is a policy of sharing, a policy of giving as much as we get, and probably more. It is a policy so powerful that it started with one man and has lived for centuries, having more effect on the world than anything you can name.

If from so small a beginning it can prove so constructive and so everlasting, why would it not be even more so if sincerely utilized as the measure of a foreign policy of a just and truly free nation?

EDUCATION IN 1958

The pulling and the pushing over what to do about education, and how much we should do, may change directions in 1958, even though it may not completely terminate. The frightening aspect of our becoming a second-rate and dominated power in the world through the lack of good scientists has knocked the props out from under numerous tight-fisted conservatives, many of whom never got past the elementary grades and have not been concerned whether or not the current crop of young people did any better.

We find school boards well stocked with men and women of rather limited vision and even of very limited knowledge. These often are difficult to move along progressive lines until someone, such as the Commies, points a missile at their heads. Then they may move.

Our problem in 1958 may be to assure that the moving is done in the right direction. We read of suggestions such as the one made by Congressman Hugh Scott, who some are pushing for Pennsylvania governor. He suggests that industry be granted tax exemptions for the cost of supporting engineers, scientists, and specialists in post graduate institutions.

Here we are with an international emergency on our doorstep and Congressman Scott bids for big business support by handing it more tax cuts, when it already is loaded with too many. Any business will not find it difficult to provide funds for scholarships and deduct them as a gift if it cares to look. But of course too many selfishly want to make sure the money spent comes back directly through the skill of the helped student.

Some are advocating more days of school. Would it not be equally as good, and possibly much less expensive, if we were to provide the students with sufficient work to make it necessary for them to hammer their books at home a bit. Teachers loaded with over a hundred students can not be expected to welcome an additional day with them, and only one day alone on which to mark papers and catch up with their out-of-class work. Two days off to keep pace with five days of school is tough enough for the really sincere educators. One day off to handle six days of accumulation sounds like pouring it on.

We think it might be a good idea, however, if the state would do something like this for many of its colleges. These young men and women have so much time on their hands in what must be little more than an advanced high school curriculum that they spend most of their week ends at home having fun. Our memory of college consists of two week end days of boning to keep pace with the assignments.

EMPHASIS MISPLACED

We are thankful to the awakening of a need for scientists, but we suggest that such suggestions as Congressman Scott's, which would do no more than help such specialists are a little narrow. Our need is more than a surplus of scientific brains which can do acrobatics with calculus and juggle test tubes. We need good citizens with a well rounded education that will let us hold our own with all people on all levels, social, economic, political, literary, artistic, and scientific.

Let the Russians turn out their scientific robots if they wish, but let us have balance. Only those really qualified should be directed into the scientific field and we should not lessen our efforts along other lines. We must not fail to learn how to live with others, and it is only in the social studies, the arts, through history, and literature that we will assure such strength.

We have a major need for education that leads to knowledge of what may happen under given circumstances and the ability to communicate with others. Emphasis on science will not do this for us.

On the local level we must not spare our look into the future. We must allow for expansion, and when the need for expansion seems very near we should include the added facilities and space at the time of building when it is most economical. This applies to the new Warren area high school.

We cannot buy too many acres for this school. It may soon serve as the first two years of college for many area students. Some will go no further and there should be room for studies that can be integrated with area industry and with agriculture.

The teacher salary problem is not being solved adequately, either in Warren county or in the state. Though the overall rate of pay has been raised, the maximum is not sufficient to attract many of the best talent to teaching, but the minimum salary has been set high enough to retain mediocrity. Actually, though we certainly do not recommend it, we would be better off with salaries so much lower that only the dedicated would attempt to teach.

We might as well face the fact that if we are going to attract many of our most capable citizens to teaching we will have to pay them a salary that will hold its own with at least the lower bracket of industrial executives. Today our best high school teachers are earning no more, and many not as much, as men with no education are receiving in the shops.

In 1958 you will hear much about this subject and will discuss it much. You are the buyer of education. If you want the best, if you think our nation should have the tops, and that your children rate real quality... you will have to pay for it.

1958 In Warren And In Warren County

The year ahead in Warren and Warren county may see many changes effected and major decisions made, but we doubt if the costs will increase alarmingly. Here we go down the 1958 line.

TAXES

The cost of government like everything else of course is going up, but we don't believe the average taxpayer will pay very much more in local assessments this year than he did last. Some may pay less.

In Warren, sewage rental will raise the bill a bit, even if the line is held on all other fronts. But the net millage payment may not go up more than a dollar for the average home-owner, and it may drop a dollar.

It is possible that there will be a slight reduction in county taxes. The rest may stay about the same. But even if they were to go up a mill, your cost would be only a dollar or two more a year.

SEWAGE PROBLEMS

Warren's sewage problem has been settled. Plans have been approved and the money has been borrowed. The plant should be completed this year, especially if we have an open winter which will permit present progress to continue.

Tidioute and Sheffield are left with decisions to make. Both apparently are practicing the stall that has paid off so poorly in the past. This stalling has made the price very high, and the latest hesitation about applying for help may have lost them federal assistance.

As plants continue to be built along our streams, those who have failed to do their share will find the pressure growing and the sympathy disappearing. The plants will be built.

WATER

The area may find itself threatened with a major loss of water supply if influential powers who have pulled for the diversion of river water into Lake Erie in place of a dam are successful. We should know the outcome in the spring when private engineers are supposed to make their report.

Other than the loss of water, the revelation which probably will lick the diversion idea will be that more people will be inconvenienced by a diversion canal than by the dam. It is estimated that at least six thousand homes would be affected and at least six towns would have to be diked.

STREETS AND TRAFFIC

In Warren there is talk of widening streets to provide more parking. To us a better idea would be to spend a small share of this widening cost to have a traffic expert study our town. He might come up with a suggestion for one-way traffic on the very streets we are talking of widening. This would make two-side parking possible without the cost of widening.

There would be nothing lost by the traffic study. If we are right in our present plans we would enjoy an added confidence.

LIBRARY SERVICE

Warren county is being made a subject for concentrated library study as a part of a state survey. However, this does not assure it of any more help than already is available for library service. There will be more talk of this service for the county in 1958, but the suggestion that the Warren library take over the county job, which is a frightening thought to many, is not apt to become a reality for the reason that the Warren board is not expected to be interested in accepting the responsibility of providing reading for county residents. (For which these residents should be very thankful.) The county should have a board of its own and do the job itself, with state and federal help.

POTPOURI

There will be stronger talk of smoke abatement in 1958, and there are teeth available if Warren and neighboring townships want to use them... OFF-STREET SLEDGING and tobogganing may develop for Warren if available land is nailed down for borough use... ADEQUACY of the new Warren area high school will be given much attention, and Tidioute will talk more about a jointure with others before entering a major building program by itself.

GOP POPULARITY is not growing, and the state probably will stay democrat with Dilworth and Leader as governor and senator... ASSEMBLYMAN GIBSON might enter the senate if Dr. Chapman decides to retire. And we still will not be surprised if Warren's Burgess Rice went to the assembly in this case.

NOT ENOUGH POLICEMEN will continue to be a Warren problem, but council probably won't do anything about it. The department also could use another car... A NEW ARMORY may shape up, at least in the planning stage, if the war talk hushes our defense efforts. Which would leave a fine recreation facility for Warren if it were alert.

ECONOMICALLY we expect the county to hold its own. The large expansions made by area plants should pay off by at least holding our employment up to a fair figure. Going up is the new telephone building, the new St. Joseph's church, and there will be other work for the building trades.

IN SPORTS Warren should have a good football year with many lettermen back and with confidence gained in late games. There should be much good baseball and basketball, if war doesn't riddle the ranks again. Northern Area should become a sports power, though it loses some great talent. But its school population is growing to a point where it is equal to many larger towns and should hold its own with Warren, Kane, Corry, and others.

SWIMMING may be talked much, and Warren must decide if it is to use school facilities to make the sport possible 365 days instead of 60 by building a convertible pool. This must be the year of decision. TENNIS should expand and there is talk of a major bowling alley addition with many lanes and the latest equipment. GOLF will be talked again but no one seems ready to do the job.

AND THE OBSERVER?

We now are studying advancements in the offset mechanical field. One available press would easily print a daily if that were the demand... and with pictures in full color. New composing machines are being studied, new cameras, and we have added more rooms to our building.

When these are furnished and we are ready, you are invited to visit us. One art room is designed to produce twenty pages at a time. They could be made up in about fifteen minutes. That is eighty pages an hour. Makes a daily sound easy.

MORE GARAGE space for borough equipment may result if this structure is purchased. It would provide space for housing and servicing the equipment of several departments in a central location.

AND YOU?

We hope to come up with some improvements that will mean greater service to you. And we hope that we can provide you with the facts so necessary to a free people if they are to be governed well by officials democratically chosen by an enlightened public.

May it be a good year for you!

In Brief

ATTEMPT JAIL BREAK. One man was wounded and three others apprehended within an hour after making a break from the Warren County Jail at 9:45 o'clock last night (Wednesday).

The quartet, made up of Richard Elslager, 22, Youngsville; Donald Emerson, 19, Calvin Marsh, 20, of Youngsville; and Arthur Gilliland, 18, of Oil City, recently received suspended sentences in Warren County court on charges of burglary and were waiting extradition to New York state where they are wanted for armed robbery.

A planned break, Elslager asked jailer Don Allen, Sr., the time and as the man looked at his watch he was slugged. The four rushed into the office, were not able to unlock a window and were attempting to unfasten the night lock on the door as Allen gathered his senses.

The jailer grabbed a gun from his desk and as the group fled he shot Elslager in the head. The bullet shattered and a piece struck his eye, which he may lose. A second shot hit the Youngsville man in the shoulder and the third hit the door.

Gilliland, hearing the shots, gave up immediately. Police were alerted and within an hour the rest were apprehended. Emerson was picked up by State Police officers Kaleina and Bailey on Fourth ave., Elslager was found by borough officers Zerbe and Peterson on a porch at 411 Fifth ave., and Marsh was found by deputy sheriff Don Allen, Jr., covered up in the back of a car in the upper East st. area. All planned to attempt a car theft and meet on Liberty st., ext.

TEMPERATURES ranging about 20 degrees below freezing and a two to three inch snow fall resulted in many frozen radiators and hazardous driving conditions in the Warren area New Year's night and this morning.

A PAIR of New Year's day accidents were investigated by borough police, the first occurring at 3:17 a.m. on Beech st. Virginia Davis, 424 Chestnut st., lost control of her car, went across the road and hit a rock pile, then proceeded on hitting a telephone pole and tree before coming to a halt.

About $500 damage resulted and the driver suffered a cut forehead and bruises. A passenger, Norman Maney, 670 Beech st., received a sprained ankle, scraped back and a bruised chest.

At 3:40 a.m. Paul W. Knopf, R.D. 1, Warren, pulled out of Jackson st. onto Conewango ave. and struck a utility pole causing $300 in damage.

BRAKE FAILURE caused a two-car mishap at 4:28 p.m. Sunday at the Madison ave.-Parker st. intersection.

Involved were Mildred T. Jaynes, 208 N. Parker st., who was unable to stop and drove onto Madison off Parker and hit the second auto operated by Neil Jensen, 209 Madison ave. Damage was estimated at $1150.

A WARREN MAN, William Johanson, 3 Tremont st., was seriously injured early Saturday evening when he was thrown from his car in a two-car accident at the intersection of Fifth and Market streets.

The local man was driving east on Fifth and was struck by Harold Wensel, Rimersburg, who failed to stop for the red light while coming south on Market. The impact drove Johanson's car into a pole and threw him from his auto. He suffered 10 broken ribs, a punctured lung and fractured collarbone.

About $1200 damage resulted and the Rimersburg man was arrested for a traffic light violation.

DRIVING TESTS will now be given by State Police at the State Armory, Hickory st., Warren. The relocation for testing resulted when the police barracks was moved to a new office in North Warren.

The Armory will be used first on Wednesday, January 8, and from then on each Wednesday and the second and fourth Fridays of the month.

THE YMCA HAS ANNOUNCED that Clifford Betts has accepted a position on its board of trustees.

A PICTURE of the late A. F. Kottkamp has been presented to the YMCA by Mrs. Kottkamp. He served the "Y" as general secretary from 1909 to 1933.

A DECISION is expected this week end from Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., determining what salary percentages should be paid Warren County Treasurer Robert L. Ritchie for the remaining three years in his term.

A hearing on the issue was held in Warren County court last Friday and briefs were heard from the involved treasurer, the county commissioners and the county auditors.

Ritchie wants one and one-half percent on receipts and the same on expenditures, or three percent. The two offers of the commissioners (both were rejected by the auditors) were two and one-half percent on both receipts and expenditures with the percentages to be paid on the smaller amount; one and one-fourth percent on both receipts and expenditures with a ceiling of $11,000. After that amount a quarter of one percent on expenditures.

The commissioners claimed that Ritchie's salary in 1956 was $14,219, with a little over $5,000 going to the office clerks.

Television and Radio

YEAR END REPORTS

CBS's ninth annual year-end report, a round table discussion by its correspondents around the world presided over by Edward R. Murrow, was one of the best and far and away the grimmest I ever listened to.

These year-end reports -- CBS calls its program "Years of Crisis" which the last nine certainly have been -- are an increasingly important annual institution. Also, this particular one is television at its best and simplest. The nine newsmen just sit around a table and talk. There are no film clips, no scenery, no anything but brains and information. Some quibblers might say this is radio rather than television, but I disagree. There's great dramatic urgency about an intelligent face speaking literate prose about the most important events of our time.

While the CBS crew have never minced words or attempted to sugarcoat their opinions, the reports usually have concluded fairly optimistically. This year the correspondents were almost unrelievedly pessimistic. Just a few samples:

David Schoenbrun, Paris correspondent: "The world balance of power has changed drastically... We fell asleep... We thought a balanced budget more important than a balance of power."

Winston Burdett, Rome correspondent: "The Eisenhower doctrine has not worked out... Our fatal mistake: we failed to keep calm in a crisis leading the Arabs to suspect us of fear and weakness."

Peter Kalischer, Tokyo correspondent: "We didn't win the Korean war decisively... When the Sputniks went up, the Asians decided our military edge had vanished."

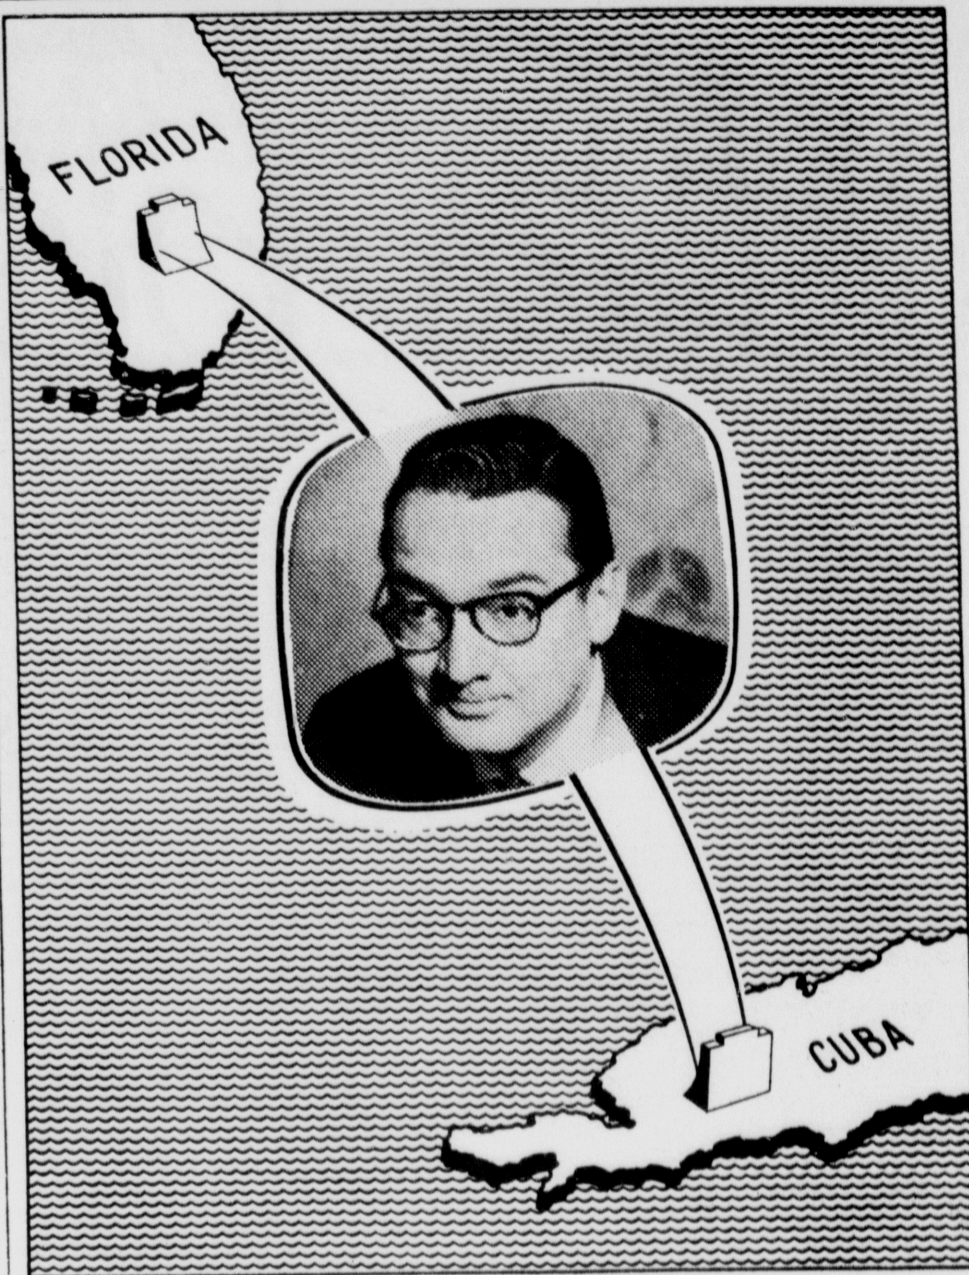

Eric Sevareid: "Gradually we substituted the word for the deed... We suffered from a paralysis at the base... wishful non-thinking."

There was little hedging or qualification. The situation was bad and the CBS men said so. Murrow kept the ball rolling by jumping around the table -- but in general he stayed out of it and let the correspondents do the talking. There were, the correspondents pointed out, some bright spots. Schoenbrun reminded us that NATO is still the world's most powerful coalition.

Daniel Schorr, Moscow correspondent, revealed that Russians are not pushed around so easily any more, adding an interesting and hopeful speculation "The same education that brought about Sputnik is arousing questions in the people. The Sputnik-makers don't like Communist gobbledeyook. The Russians are looking for a better way of life." And Sevareid added: "This country (our own) is by no means a push-over. We have the greatest industrial plant in the world, unlimited money -- though we act broke all the time -- and a reputation for honest good will."

As usual, the language was surpassingly literate without at any time appearing strained. Occasionally, there were bright sparks. Said Sevareid: "I think most of us would rather be broke than dead -- but the government seems to have doubts on the subject." Later, summing up, Murrow added: "I think we're all agreed that death on behalf of a balanced budget is not a proper way to die... This is the best of times because never have the stakes been so high... If we spend too much time, debating the past, we may lose the future."

Tests Demonstrate How Seat Belts Save Lives

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

IF YOU'VE EVER WATCHED stock car races, you're familiar with the hair-raising spills and collisions which many of these drivers experience—and then step out of their cars, wave to the crowd—and walk away, unhurt.

Likewise, in accidents affecting modern military aircraft, the personnel frequently walk away with hardly a scratch.

In both cases, the reason why occupants survive these accidents without injury is because they are protected by seat belts which prevent them from being hurled against instrument panels or through windshields.

Last month at Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M., I saw how seat belts can also curb passenger car injuries. (Some estimates indicate that seat belts could prevent more than one million automobile injuries and 20,000 deaths per year.)

More than 100 automotive, medical and safety experts watched simulated car "crashes" at the third annual Automotive Crash and Field Demonstration Conference. The tests, which were conducted by Col. John P. Stapp, Director of Holloman's Aero-Medical Field Laboratory, involved humans, animals and dummies who were catapulted into quick, hydraulic braking stops similar to the impacts of auto collisions. (Col. Stapp has traveled faster on the ground than any other human—nearly 700 miles an hour.)

Miss Smith

In one deceleration test, a bear wearing a safety seat belt was subjected to a measured impact equivalent to 25 times the force of gravity. Although the force of the impact threw the bear's head and shoulders forward, he was not thrown from his seat—thanks to the belt.

Air Force doctors, who examined the bear before and after the test, found that he had not been injured, either externally or internally, by the jolt.

In another test, an Air Force captain, restrained by a safety seat belt, went through a similar demonstration without injury. The "crash" in which he participated was equivalent to a car being braked from 17 miles an hour to a stop in six seconds, at a deceleration rate of 27 times the force of gravity.

The impact was similar to a car's head-on crash into a concrete wall at 30 or 35 miles per hour or a side-collision with another car at 50 to 55 miles per hour.

A third test duplicated the one in which the captain participated, except that it was manned by a dummy, without a seat belt. When subjected to the same shocking stop which the captain survived without injury, the unrestrained dummy was thrown 12 feet.

These, and other demonstrations, vividly point up how seat belts can be the solution to our traffic injury problem.

Daly, ABC-TV presented its own nourishing roundup under the title "Prologue 1958." This was a more wide-ranging effort, dwelling on such things as the labor investigations, Eisenhower's health, Little Rock, Supreme Court decisions and other things left almost strictly alone by CBS, but naturally the ABC report suffered somewhat in depth. (You can get only so much into an hour.)

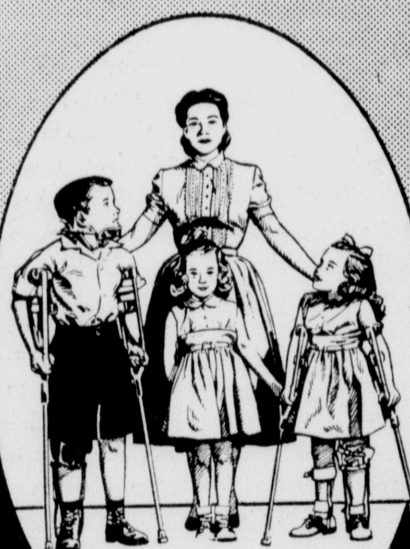

There was a greater emphasis on domestic news and I was particularly impressed by Washington bureau chief John Secondari's analysis of the effect of the Gaither report (which is theoretically still a big secret). "The reaction was sharp, alarmed and short-lived. Unfortunately those who live from crisis to crisis end with losing their sensitivity. But, if our survival is truly menaced, our only repair is to stay sensitive and aware."

NBC, incidentally, also had its own roundup which I didn't see. It's a darned shame that this sort of news roundup which is so valuable in putting the world into proper perspective happens only once a year -- and then we get three of them, all on the same day.

*Make it pay off for him even

U. S. Savings Bonds*

Nobody has a better birthright than an American child.

Born to this land, he shares its abundance and its privileges.

His opportunities stretch from the Golden Gate to the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. And he doesn't need a passport to reach any of them.

All he needs are the things that you, his parents, can give him — care, security, a good education for a richer life.

These are the important things you want to save for. And one of the easiest ways to save for them is by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Through this plan, money is set aside for you before you get a chance to spend it. At your company's pay office, you name the amount you can save each payday and it is put into Savings Bonds for you. Here, in its safest form, it can't be lost, stolen or destroyed because the U. S. Treasury will replace your Bonds without charge if anything happens to them.

And you'll be surprised at how quickly your money in Bonds adds up to big things such as the down payment on a home or tuition for four years of college. Series E Bonds now earn $3\frac{1}{4}\%$ interest when held to maturity, mature in only 8 years and 11 months.

So isn't the Payroll Savings Plan a good way to make sure of your youngster's share in America? Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work today.

To Sell Education Through TV Drama

By Doris Fleeson

WASHINGTON, -- The White House is being urged to enlist television in the talent hunt for scientists and engineers to overtake the Soviet feats of technology.

Before it is an ambitious program for a series of television dramas designed to persuade the younger generation that such careers are a public service and offer a bright personal future. The program would be underwritten by industry and the actors and writers for it drafted in the name of a national emergency.

Nothing of this sort has ever been undertaken by the government short of a shooting war. Its appeal rests in the obvious need for surpassing the Soviets and in the fact that the Federal government can be divorced from direct control, cost or content.

Industry circles appear to believe that the project has already been bought by officials who have the President's ear and that it will show up in his special message on education. Education groups and politicians are not so certain.

It is generally admitted that there are few better ways than television to attract the attention of the younger generation. It is also agreed that the situation is as critical as war and that all creative methods for meeting it ought to receive a cordial hearing.

Educators are, however, already showing some nervousness over the present stress on science education, fearing it may come at the expense of other aspects of learning. They can be expected to examine closely what amounts to government favoritism for a single branch of education.

Members of Congress are similarly sensitive to Administration use of so powerful an agent of propaganda as television. The parties clamor for "equal time" with each other; Congress likes to feel that the Executive branch gets no favors it cannot itself command.

Specifically the proposed program is titled "Breakthrough." Its heroes would be the scientists and engineers who are changing the shape of things to come. Writers presumably would provide suitably dramatic situations to erase the ivory tower taint and make the characters seem men of action as exciting as Davy Crockett.

The idea is attributed to Red Granik, a veteran radio and television producer. He is said to be backed by a business organization called Research Corporation, a private group whose directors include Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Dr. James R. Killian, the President's scientific advisor.

In that the project represents a competition for existing talent rather than an expansion of education it does not meet the demands of many who have long worked in the education field. Yet this group has failed to instill in the White House any solid conviction that such expansion is vitally necessary.

Early drafts of the President's education proposals do not mention school construction. Omitted also are appropriations for laboratories or any such extra facilities for testing and research. Apparently the whole emphasis is to be on re-distribution of effort rather than expansion.

TE LA DI O

TAPE RECORD IT?

Your television set in a few years may do much more than bring you programs from cities miles away. You may make your own. Already the networks are replacing film with tape. This tape records the sound and the picture in color. The first step beyond this will be to make available taped programs which you may buy at the store and see on your own set through the use of a simple attachment. Then will come the day when you will shoot your own pictures in color on tape, and pick up the sound.

This will not be next year. This equipment now costs in such figures as $100,000. But when it is reduced to a tenth of that amount, as it will be, a few of us will buy them and others will be in the business of making local tapes for home consumption.

AS FOR 1958

You may not see this tape developed for personal use in the coming year but you can expect improvements in television. In this area your reception should improve as stations are strengthened, and as new scientific developments make sets and lines more efficient.

WICU started its full power programming out of Erie on Christmas day and already most of the major lines have picked it up. The result is that NBC and CBS now are clearly received in Warren county. WICU also carries some ABC, and Buffalo's WGR offers full ABC to most of the county.

In the nation two major steps may be taken. Closed circuit tv or pay tv possibly will begin to spread. This may mean very much improved programs and it also may prove an answer to the movie industry which needs a medium to take it into American homes in competition with free television.

The promised coming of color to television never has proved successful in a large way, though NBC is pushing the idea with a lengthy array of programs. Technical improvements in this field also may result in pictures so much better that public demand will result in the other networks finding it worthwhile.

There also is the fact that the nation's homes are becoming very well filled with sets and it will require some new wrinkle to inspire a wholesale buying spree. Color might be pushed for that reason. Slim-lined, more compact, two to a home, and with color. Those could be the sales pitches developing before 1959 rolls around.

WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS

LUCILLE BALL-DESI ARNAZ SHOW is a CBS "special" for Friday night and will be seen at 9 p. m. The hour-long program revolves around an uranium hunt near Las Vegas.

WHERE WE STAND is a special CBS 90-minute report to the American people on the comparative strengths of the United States and the Soviet Union in the vital areas of science, weapons and defense, education and economics, and will be seen at 5:30 Sunday afternoon, January 5.

DOTTO, a new quiz game premiering Monday, January 6 at 11:30 a. m. on WBEN-TV, turns dots into pictures and pictures into dollars for lucky contestants. Jack Narz is master of ceremonies.

WIDE WIDE WORLD, Sunday afternoon at 4-5:30 on NBC channels, will be titled "World on Wheels" and tell the high-powered, free wheeling story of American automobiles and the people who make and drive them. A complete assemblyline production will be featured.

THE LAST WORD, a series devoted to the vagaries of the English language and the ever-changing meanings of words, will return to the CBS radio network after a four-month vacation on Tuesday, January 7 at 9:30 p. m. We enjoyed this program last season on television and would like to see it return in the same Sunday afternoon spot.

SHOWER OF STARS, at 8:30 Thursday night, January 9, will feature William Lundigan as host, and as guests, Jack Benny, Tommy Lands, Jo Stafford, Paul Weston and Ed Wynn.

PLAYHOUSE 90's drama for next Thursday night will be titled "The Last Man". Starring will be Sterling Hayden, Carolyn Jones, Wallace Ford and Hurd Hatfield.

SPORTS TO BE SEEN

BOXING - Johnny Busso, of Brooklyn, and Paoli Rosi, of the Bronx, will meet Friday night in Madison Square Garden for a 10-round match. The two lightweight contenders (Busso is ranked fifth and Rosi sixth) have been scheduled to meet on four previous occasions but each time an illness or injury forced a cancellation. Cavalcade of Sports will carry this bout at 10 p. m. on the NBC network.

HOCKEY - Boston Bruins meet the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden Saturday afternoon with the CBS network carrying the game in a new time spot, 2 p. m.

PRO BASKETBALL - Philadelphia and Detroit meet in an NBA game at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

BOWLING - Frank Clause beat Tony Lindeman on last Sunday evening's "Bowling Stars" carried by WGR and will be challenged next Sunday afternoon by Johnny Kane when the program is seen at a new time, 4 p. m.

WINTER FUN safely off the streets will be possible if the borough buys this bit of land east of the Mulberry playground. It extends up the hill toward land that will border the new high school property. It would provide the boys and girls in Warren's largest ward, and others who wanted to participate, an area for sliding, skiing, and tobogganning where cars could not reach them. Play in other seasons also would be possible.

WARREN'S NEW YEAR BABY was a seven pound, two ounce daughter born at 6:21 a. m. in Warren General Hospital to Mr and Mrs. Thomas Crozier, Prospect st., Warren.

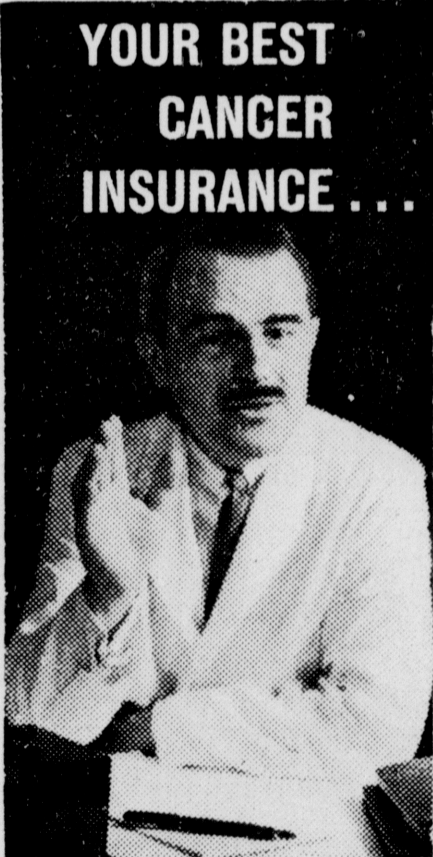

WINNING home in the holiday Christmas decoration contest was that of Harold J. Ristau on the Warren-Kinzua rd. It is pictured here.

Second place winner was the residence of Foster Maze, 315 Park st., and the third-place home display was arranged by Nick Merenick, 323 Park st. Pictures of these two homes appeared in last week's Observer -- reverse the captions and you'll have them right.

GOOD HUNTING. Many veteran hunters would give much to knock over one of these. This is Allen Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lowe, of Willoughby Ave., Warren. He shot the jack in the Kinzua off.

GOP And South May Rejoin

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- Ordinarily Congress is, by and large, inclined toward conservatism by the very nature of circumstances.

This is likely to be true more than ever now, because in the second session of the 85th Congress the grim emphasis will be on national defense and its Russian overtones, and the gloomy domestic economic outlook and the falling indices.

At the center of this conservatism is the revived coalition of Southern conservative Democrats and Republicans. During the civil rights fight in the last session Republicans joined with Northern Democrats, but that had been an unfamiliar and uncomfortable alliance.

The marriage of convenience is obviously over -- that is, except for Eastern Republicans. In the end the Republicans were unable to prevail in the civil rights issue with their Northern Democratic partners. Instead, they were skillfully bested by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.), Democratic party leader, and a combination of Western and Southwestern Democrats and a few Republicans.

What has happened is that the bulk of Republicans are disillusioned now and ready to go back with the coalition which worked so happily with the Southerners. In double harness ever since 1938, they fought side by side against New Deal economic and social welfare issues.

This is not a happy solution for Eastern Republicans or for Northern Democrats. But the truth is that they are outnumbered. Especially on civil rights, this will be nothing but a sham battle as far as Congress is concerned, though they must put up a bold front.

When the official word came from Attorney General William Rogers, the Administration abandoned any further civil rights legislation for the rest of this 85th Congress. This, of course, means until after the November, 1958, election.

Republican leaders in Congress, after all their efforts for a civil rights bill, found in the Wisconsin special Senatorial election and in the off-year elections in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania the Negroes stronger for the Democrats than before.

It might be said that Republicans discourage easily, even though the election picture is bad enough. What the truth is in some cases, or at least so it seems, is that many Republicans in Congress were more earnest about conservatism than about civil rights. They seemed, in fact, to be more contented with their old Southern cronies.

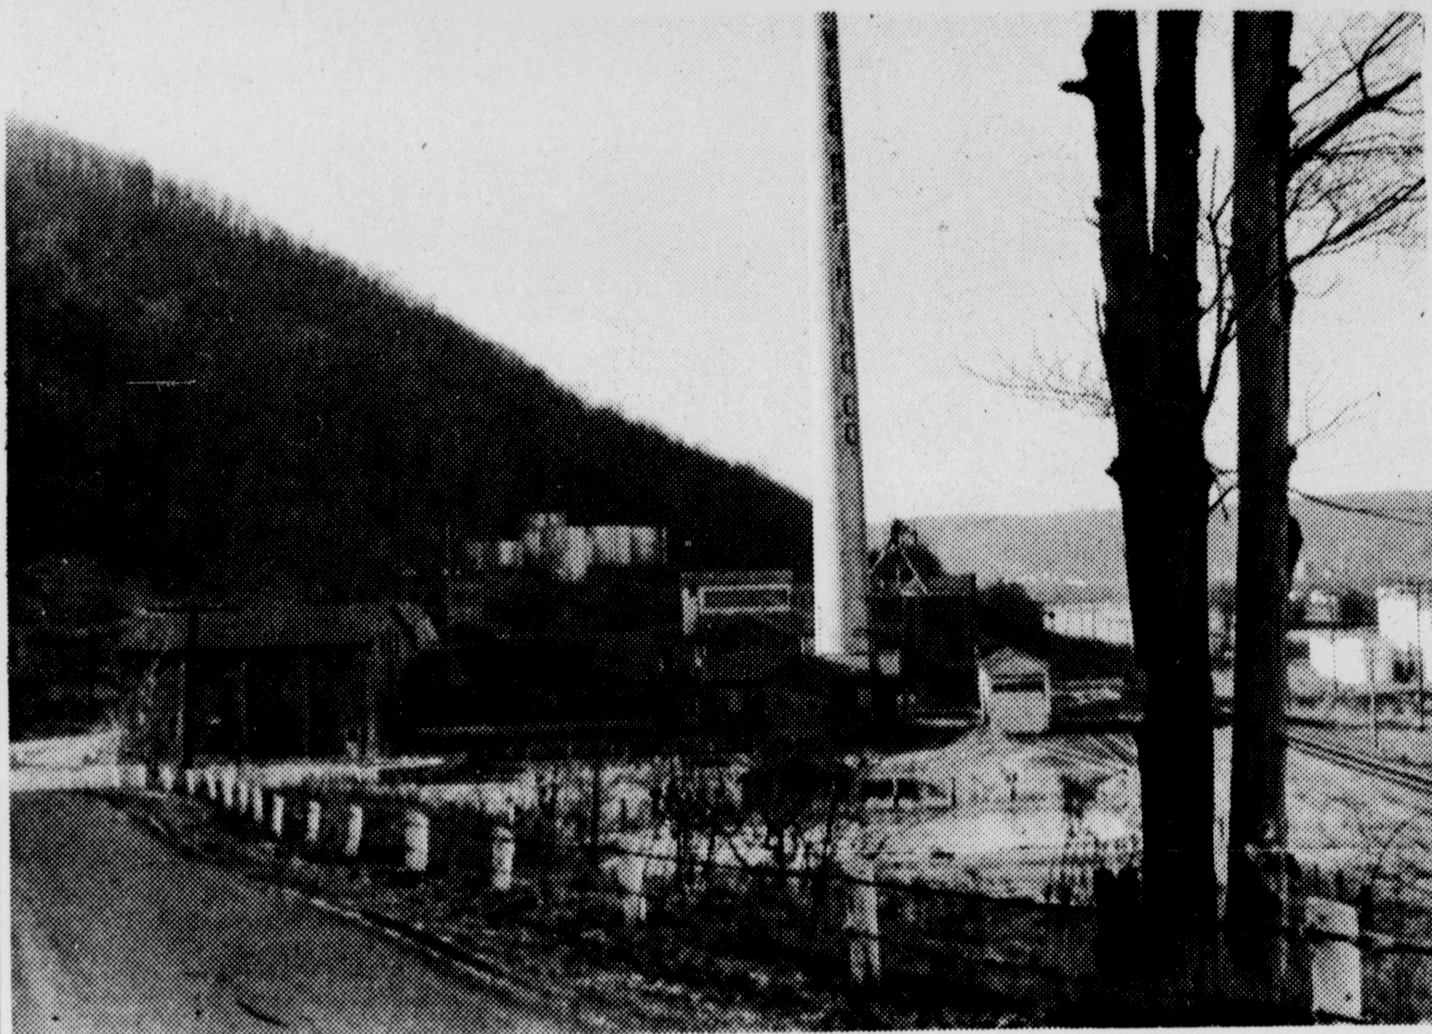

Once again there is a rebirth of the conservative spirit among Republicans in Congress, and once again they insist that the party is going back to "old-fashioned" Republicanism. They are pessimistic about the Eisenhower Administration, and about their second successive defeat in Congress. They seem to have reverted to type, more strained and intense, with less and less sympathy for Eisenhower Republicans.

They are discouraged about the necessity of spending for defense and more morose about tax reduction. In fact, there may be an increase of taxes, and they have long faces about the prospect of an unbalanced budget.

There is only one prospect which pleases, however. This is that conservative Republicans believe they can hold down and slash "welfare" appropriations, in which they lump together such things as public power and public atomic energy, which conservative Republicans so detest.

Conservative Republicans are looking forward to their old coalition with conservative Southern Democrats.

There is only one possibility, however, that disturbs them. This is that the economic situation may

WARREN COMPONENTS is using the office of the old Sherwood Refinery as a production lab and office center for a new operation. But despite this expansion, industrial in Warren is on a down grade with several plants laying off. What's in the future remains to be seen.

MORE RECREATION facilities will be provided Warren area residents with the $53,000 project now underway at Chapman Dam State Park.

Being installed are rest room facilities, a dressing stockade for bathers and a swimming beach. Also a vehicular ford across the spillway and a concession building.

be worse than they had anticipated. Then there will be nothing but to spend on pump-priming projects of the welfare category, such as housing, slum clearance, highways, bridges, and the kind.

RE-ROUTED. Jackson Run just north of Venturatown has been re-routed in a flood prevention measure. See arrow for former creek bed.

Akeley Boy Scouts of Troop #15 have been occupied each week end since the latter part of July with a conservation project to be used as an entry for the contest sponsored by the Warren Field and Stream Club.

With the choice of practicing on either public or private land, the boys selected a site on the Axel Carlstrom farm, located on the Kiantone Road, which contained all the typical conservation problems. There they have actually applied the principles of forest land improvement and erosion or flood water control. Before proceeding, recommendations on timber cutting and timber volume capacity of the land were secured from Ralph G. Eckert of the Soil Conservation Service while Federal Forester Paul Shogren laid out the plan of operation for the water control.

In the thinning of approximately one acre, the larger tree trunks were used in dam building while the more fragile thinnings provided covers for game protection.

The addition of a few more poles to the dam will mark the finish of present activities until early spring when seedling of white ash and red pine will be planted.

The Scouts have already gathered and planted red and white oak acorns to be used as seedlings for later distribution. These, however, cannot be moved to forest ground for at least another year.

Scoutmaster Lewis Mayhe stated that in selecting private land, their project would tend to exemplify the principles of conservation on farm land and that although much is being done in Warren County along these lines, there are still many acres idle and wasting.

FIRST ROUND KNOCKOUT GIVES GERARDE THIRD WIN

Tom "Rocky" Gerarde used a few powerful left hooks to club out a 1:57 first round TKO over Nat "Sugar" Sherrel, Erie, in an amateur boxing bout at the YMCA gym last Thursday night. Referee Frankie Russo stopped the match when the Erie boxer was unable to defend himself.

The win was Gerarde's third in three starts on the Y gym since boxing in Warren was revived by Joe Fazio last fall. Previously Gerarde had decisioned Franklin Long, Warren, in a 5-rounder and knocked out Ed Kent, Little Valley, N.Y., in one round on the Y floor.

Four no-decision bouts preceded the main event. Matching gloves in three-round contests were Richard Occhuzzo and Chuck Gallagher, 103 pounds; Harry Brooker and Tom Suppa, 150 pounds; Carl Henniger and John Ponsoll, 130 pounds; and Tony Vavala and Ron Bonavita, 107 pounds.

COLLEGIANS DUMP STYLERS IN HOLIDAY CONTEST

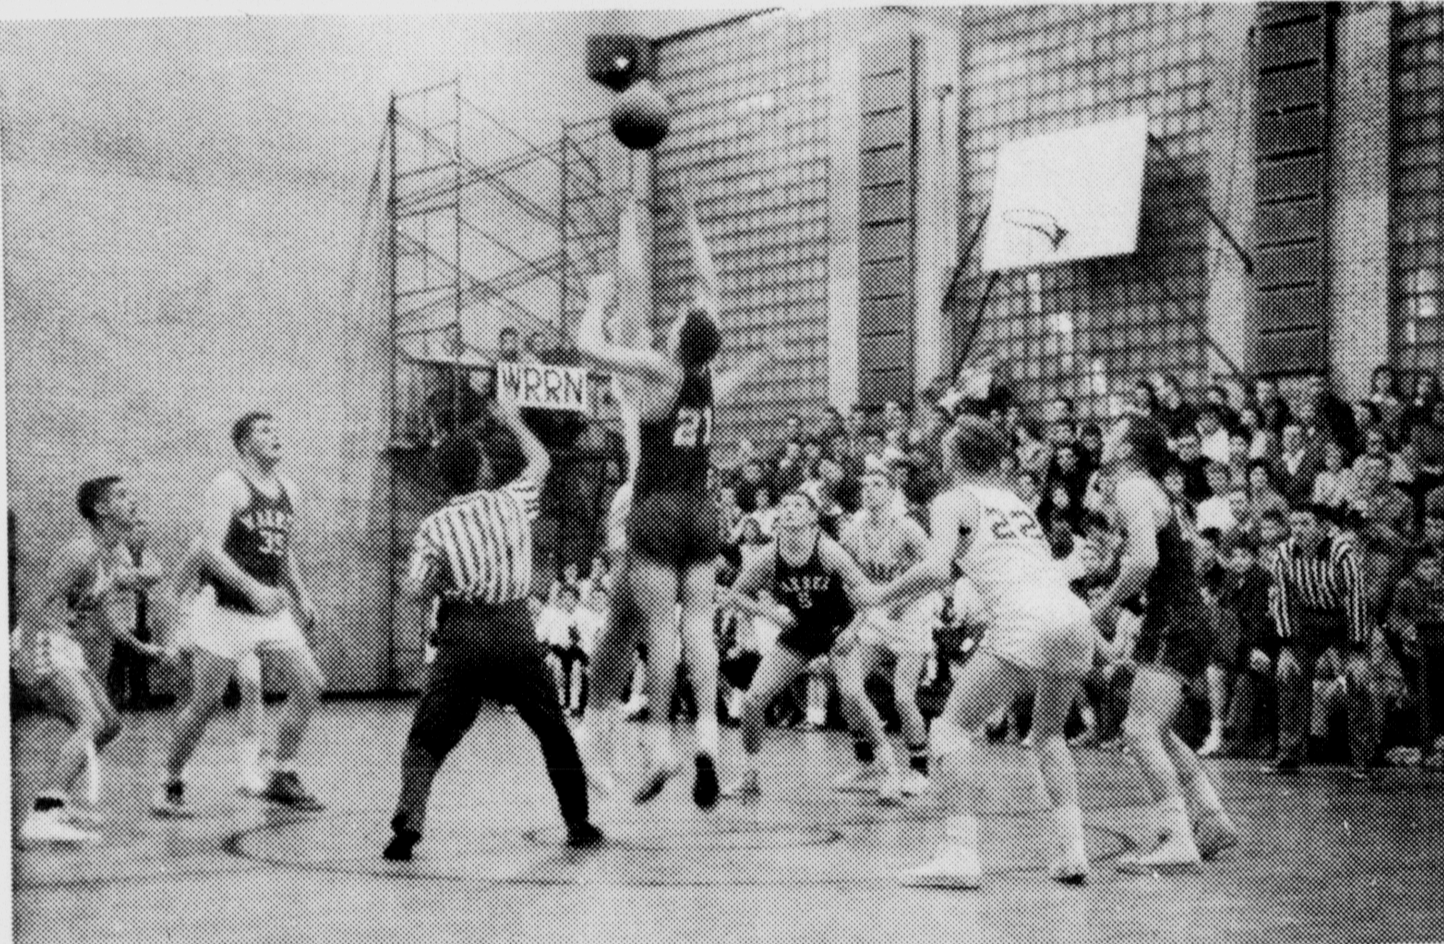

Fine ball handling and good team play combined to give the Collegians an 89 to 64 win over the Style Shop on Beaty gym last Friday night. The Collegians jumped off to a 26 to 14 lead at the end of the first period and were never headed by the Stylers who at one point in the third quarter whittled the lead to only 6 points.

The Collegians' top scorer was Ron Isaackson, current captain of the Gannon College five, with 24 points. Other Collegian performers were George Hesch, Harry Danielson, Bob Wilson, Bob Harrington, Bill Massa, Don Dick, Mike Kotmair and Dick Koebly.

Dick Nelson led the Stylers with 21 markers.

SCRAPPY DRAGONS BEAT ALUMNI TEAM

An aggressive Warren High School basketball team turned back an Alumni quintet, 62 to 46, on the Beaty hardwoods last Friday night.

The win was the Dragons' seventh in eight games and their sixth consecutive triumph.

The Dragons used a pressing defense to overcome a small lead the Alumni built in the early moments of the game and fought to a 29 to 22 edge at halftime. The conditioning of the Dragons proved superior to that of the Alumni in the third quarter and the schoolboys outscored their opponents 21 to 9 to take a lead which was never threatened.

The scoring was evenly distributed among the Dragons with Nick Monroe and Mark Peterson each accounting for 12 points and Jack Karkosky and Nicky Creola each hooping 10 points.

Jim Mohnkern with 13 points and Steve Lindquist with 12 points were the top scorers for the Alumni.

Next Tuesday night, January 7, the Dragons will go to Jamestown to take on an unbeaten Red Raider team.

GRAPPLERS PRACTICE FOR OIL CITY MATCH

The Warren High School wrestling team, winless in two matches thus far this season, has been practicing during Christmas vacation to remain in condition and to gain some valuable experience before entering their next match at Oil City on Thursday, January 9.

The squad as a whole this year lacks experience which can be gained only in actual competition. Steve Pearson, one of the few lettermen on the team, has returned to action after a six week lay-off caused by a leg injury received in the first week of practice.

The starting lineup for the Oil City match has not yet been selected by Coach Hal Miller but from all indications it will be about the same as the previous two matches.

As in other areas of Pennsylvania, wrestling is growing rapidly in Warren and is drawing larger crowds this year. In some areas, wrestling now draws more spectators than basketball.

AREA CAGE ROUNDUP

WARREN COUNTY -- Warren dumped its Alumni, 62 to 46, and Northern Area downed its Alumni, 53 to 42.

ERIE -- Cathedral Prep whipped Academy, 57 to 52, and were upended by Buffalo Bishop Timon, 49 to 35. Strong Vincent bumped Tech, 67 to 44, and McDowell shaded East, 43 to 42.

OTHERS -- Farrell dropped two games, to Niles, Ohio, 50 to 48, and to Hickory, 48 to 43. Sharon spanked Sharpville, 66 to 44. Freedom trounced Mercer, 56 to 18.

TOURNAMENTS -- Monessen edged Clairton, 52 to 48 to win the Monesson tournament. New Castle took the New Castle tournament with a 60 to 56 win over Wampum. Homestead edged New Kensington, 52 to 50, to win the New Kensington tourney and the Conneaut affair was won by Cochran with a 65 to 39 verdict over Conneaut Lake in the tournament final.

GRA-Y ACTIVITY

McClintock School blasted Sugar Grove 32 to 4 in a Gra-Y league game this week. Johnson scored 14 points and Creola 13 markers for the winners. Gruber and Shaunessy each had 4 points for Sugar Grove.

WIN TOURNAMENT

Friendly Grill of Jamestown re-

PELTY OF ACTION was provided at the Warren high varsity-Alumni game at Beaty court Friday night. Coach Joe Massa's current issue ended the game 62-46 better than last season's edition.

In the preliminary contest the Collegians tripped the local Style Shop quintet 89 to 64.

peated as champions of the Second Annual Jamestown YMCA invitational basketball tournament. The Grillers turned back the Lake Shore Delivery quintet from Jamestown in the tournament finals. In their first game of the tournament, the champions edged the Warren Style Shop, 74 to 71.

HUNT THE HUNTER

In 1958 we would like to see the true sportsmen do something about the killers who roam our fields and forests. There are not enough game wardens wearing badges to run down the skillful poachers, and there are a few of them in every corner.

The worst part about this may be that some of them are well known by other hunters, but most people prefer not to be squealers. But while you pay your license fee and obey the laws, there are a few who are killing away over the limit and out of season.

Recently we were told of one hunter who openly boasts of shooting several bucks this past fall. They also tell us that he averages about two hundred squirrels every year.

We don't doubt this story because we have known some poachers who plied their skill's in the early days before hunting was quite so great a sport. A skilled woodsman can get away with much in the woodlands, and there is little the wardens can do about it unless they have the help of others.

At the least they should be tipped off concerning the suspect. The one way to nail him is to keep him under watch. In this day of cars, such a watch is even easier than once was the case. They must return to the car.

These aren't the only ones we have in mind. During the deer season many fine bears were killed by hunters who apparently shot them for no more than the pleasure of bringing down a big animal. Obviously they could not mistake them for deer. One fine bear weighed 470 pounds dressed. Alive it went over 500 pounds, probably 550.

Another neat little meat-getting trick is to pick up deer hit by cars. Many times the deer has been stolen a few minutes after the accident is reported. This type of violation can cost you three years of hunting as well as the customary fine. And game law fines don't come low.

In 1958 we would like to see the sportsmen's organization add a project to their fine work of feeding the wildlife and improving its natural habitat. Why not team up on some of these known game hogs and end their slaughtering days?

It would not be necessary to even arrest them. A few telephone calls to advise them that the sportsmen were aware of their proclivities and that they will be watched closely from here in might change their habits.

The game belongs to everyone. It should be widely shared and not sacrificed to the piggishness of a few. The laugh these few have on the many could be reversed in 1958 if a bit of teamwork were utilized by those who spend their money and time to assure good hunting.

Warren Zoning Faces Growing Pains

About thirty Warren residents and sixteen borough officials gathered in the municipal building last Friday night to express and hear opinions concerning a proposed change in the zoning law. No constructive ideas were presented to assist council in its deliberations, though much opposition to the change was evident.

Though many visitors verbally expressed their reasons for not wanting professional offices and studios added to the area classified as Residential Three, nothing helpful came from the meeting and council will have no more to go on than it did before the hearing was held. It knows, only, that there are many people in the area in question and in the neighboring area who fear the eventual results of such a change.

This is normal and does no more than emphasize the problem always facing a governing body when a zoning change is contemplated. Obviously, if you make changes that admit even a bit of professional commercialism into an area there is a possibility that it eventually will lead to at least part of that area being reclassified.

One of the purposes of zoning is to control the growth of a community. This does not mean that growth is blocked, and it becomes the responsibility of public officials to effect changes in a way that will maintain values. Always, the border area between commercial and the strictest of residential is subject to change. This is especially true if a community is prospering and attempting to grow.

These border areas must provide the means of effecting that expansion. Any other way will mean spot zoning, which is not advisable and can lead to a town becoming cluttered with little commercial areas and many bordering devaluation problems.

Warren must decide in which direction it is to allow its major commercial area to grow. Up to now the stop sign has been raised when efforts have been made to expand it to the west and to the north. It can't go south because of the river. The east is blocked by the Conewango creek, though there are a few blocks from Market to Water which could serve for expansion.

The residents with expensive homes on upper Liberty and Hickory and on Fifth ave. can not be blamed for being alarmed about the future value of their property. Their concern is natural and deserves sympathetic consideration.

But Fourth ave. will change. It is a main traffic artery and will become even more heavily traveled as it is improved and as the state awakens to its value. It also may serve some day as the entrance for a major highway from the west. Warren can't stop natural developments of this nature.

MISS SARAMAE ENDICH, prominent young soprano, will appear at Beatty auditorium Wednesday, January 8, at 8:30 p. m., in the third of the Jaycees Concert Series.

Without zoning Fourth would have stores on it today and the residents of this area should be very thankful that zoning is in control. However, zoning can't forever keep Fourth from becoming something other than strictly residential and it is best to effect this change with rigid zoning controls.

The fact is that if all the lawyers, all the doctors, and all the engineers in Warren were to build attractive professional offices in Residential Three today, the riddle would be negligible, and the effect on land value might be complementary.

No one can blame the owners of these fine homes which represent one of Warren's major assets for being very much opposed to the location of super markets and other stores on land bordering theirs. And we suggest that such a development should not be allowed until the complexion of the existing buildings and homes changes for the worst to a major degree.

It has been argued that council should make owners of buildings in the present business section improve their office space so that it will be more attractive to prospective tenants. But council lacks the power to take such steps. In our economy the answer may be found in competition. If present landlords are not forced to improve their buildings to meet the threat of new ones in an expanding area they will do as little as possible.

There are many second floor rooms in Warren that are at the top of discouragingly long flights of stairs, are poorly lighted, lack adequate rest room facilities, and are generally unattractive. As long as they can be rented with no more investment than they now represent, the owners probably will do nothing about them. The investment has been returned and the income is clear profit. Nice business for the owners but not contributory to progress for the community.

The answer may lie in a bit of expansion and the addition of good office space to the community. The eventual result might be a general improvement of centrally located buildings, or the removal of them to make room either for parking space or more modern ones.

The answer isn't easy, and there always will be opposition when changes that can eventually lead to broader classification are proposed. But we have a zoning law to control our growth. It is not there to prevent it, but to minimize personal sacrifice, of which there always must be a little.

INSERT ZONING ARTICLE

(There is only one residential three zone in Warren. It stretches along Fourth, approximately from Market to Chestnut, and stretches back about 150 feet on both sides, except west of Hazel where it dips south to Pennsylvania ave. At the present there is little difference between it and R-2, except that multiple dwellings, convalescent homes, nursing homes, and kindergartens can be built there, and four per cent more of the lots can be used for building.)
